Apparently this is fixed by reverting to an older version of the scripts.

If you run <http://4camp.net/scripts341.exe> it will ensure you have the correct dll files and should make the "bhs.dll wont load" error go away.

Upload dllload.txt and (if existing) _shaders.txt. These should be in your game directory (not Data)

I have the exact same problem. I ran the installer and it's still there.

@Saberhawk: I didn't.

Rename scripts.dll to scripts-custom.dll

THEN

rename scripts2.dll to scripts.dll

THEN

delete shaders.dll and dxd8.dll

THEN

Run Ren

sry double post... but i'm posting the problem, and bumping at same time....

[bhs.dll] Failed to load, error 998. Invalid access to memory location.

[bhs.dll] Failed to load, error 998. Invalid access to memory location.

[d3d8.dll] Module not found, unable to continue.

[shaders.dll] Module not found, unable to continue.
[d3d8.dll] Module not found, unable to continue.
[bhs.dll] Failed to load, error 998. Invalid access to memory location.

that's the dllload text thing, i'm guessing it says why it won't load, i have those 4 files in my ren folder, i don't know why there not being found...

(Massive bump)

I'm now encountering this exact error (including the code in dllload.txt) whilst trying to run ECW under Wine. It appears that ECW forked off a very early version of scripts, so it could be related to the bug in this 2007 topic.

The workaround of renaming scripts2.dll to scripts.dll appears to simply disable custom scripts altogether, which isn't a viable solution for ECW.

Do any of the scripts devs remember the changes they made to fix this problem back in 2007? It looks like invalid memory usage, according to the logs I have been trying to sift through.

I don't have access to any of ECW's source, but if anyone remembers an approximate error location (eg function names, particular calls) then I might be able to ask them.
Any help would be appreciated
