lol, something like that could only be inferred by you nodbugger. Two seperate statements brought together to infer a completely redundant answer.

That's like saying Bush went to Afghanistan to remove its leaders from power. Bush went to Iraq to remove its leader from power. Therefore the leaders of both countries were the same person.

What he said was that your intelligence does not exist, just like elves don't exist; he, infact, acknowledges that elves don't exist. Nowhere did it suggest anything in the alternative to both statements.
