It does that for me, not commonly though. I would suggest a computer reboot, and if that doesn't work, defrag, and if that doesn't work, a re-install of renegade itself. Since Always and Always2 are basically the core system of renegade, and its the biggest files for it, somewhere in the installation, one or multiple files may have been tampered with by the installer. So, give my suggestions a shot!

Uninstall your Renegade stuff, and delete the Renegade folder. Then, install Renegade, update with the patch: ftp://ftp.westwood.com/pub/renegade/updates/Renegade\_1037\_Chinese.exe (I assume you forgot to patch last time), and install RenGuard/Core Patches/whatever.

.w3d files are models, and are banned by renguard as they are used by cheaters to make things bigger, EG bighead. The models you have posted look like explosion aggregates and such, and I suspect would not really give you any ingame advantage, but RG still will not allow them without being authorised by BHS.

Oh, I'm sorry. I meant to link to the English patch; I have no idea how I did that on accident. Anyway, those .w3d files could have been caused by the Chinese patch, if you didn't get those from a site or something. I hate to say this, but I'd reinstall once more (make sure to delete the Renegade folder when you uninstall!).

They're not skins. Skins have the extension .dds

Those are models, with extension .w3d. For now, remove them from your data folder if you want to run Renguard or run C:\Westwood\Renegade\game2.exe if you want to run Renegade without Renguard.
