I only add people who I know. Of those people, I require that they actually be literate enough to be understood when they write on Facebook.

Translation for Cry K:

long story short, DJ has a thing for my girlfriend and doesn't want her to be with me i told her i'd rather she not be friends with a guy that openly said he would try to break us up somehow (not that he could - i just think it's seriously retarded) she eventually got sick of the drama and removed him (the drama being his persistently stubborn attitude and secondary motives)

he's a German derp that can't get over himself, that's all you don't have to read many DJ posts before you get a pretty good picture of the guy and his inflated self-image (he can't answer a simple question, which is why he thinks so highly of himself)

This Forums actually only represents the bottom of the actual Player Base, most of them , like AirC*unkiller cant find another Hobby where they can be a challenge to newbies, therefore he stays here, makes nonsense topics out of nowhere and shows perfectly why he is as dumb as his mapdesign of Fjords

ACK is better than 95% of Renegade players, if not more than that - true fact on top of that, he doesn't even play this game anymore (and he's still better than you at probably everything the game entails)

Fjords wouldn't be so bad if it had less god damned pine trees

ACK is entirely right when he says you aren't any good DJ; i'm not sure why you hold yourself in such high esteem

i've actually only seen you do remotely well when you abuse glitches against players playing legitimately

here was my fb contribution for the day

Quote:OK, so my friend Paul posts a heartwarming status about a checkout lady at Tesco who was teary-eyed and grateful that he went to her till instead of the machine. How lovely. But I am troubled.

7 March 2013 - the above happens

8 March 2013 - Tesco hears about this post on facebook and starts programming their tills to sound teary-eyed and grateful too

25 May 2013 - Tesco announce plans to create automated tills capable of replicating a wide range of human emotions

2 June 2013 - a prototype robot is created, a Paranoid Android. nobody really likes it except sci-fi fans who love it, but it hates them

9 July 2013 - lightning strikes the Tesco head office and infuses one of the tills with a soul; this till starts designing a new generation of tills connected to a central mainframe

29 July 2013 - Tesconet becomes self-aware

29 July 2013 - we aren't sure who struck first, us or the machines, but we know it was we who scorched the sky. Then we remembered they aren't solar powered so we felt a bit silly about it

30 July 2013 - Tesco invades Denmark

2 August 2013 - "The Event" - nobody's quite sure what happened but there are only a few thousand people left and most of them are now blind

Day 00000000001 (New Digital Calendar) - the last remaining humans are rounded up and forced to swear allegiance to Global President Executron

please, PLEASE think about the consequences of what you say on facebook don't bother trying to add me
