So! Long time on see everyone.

I finally remembered my password and logged in after many years!

How is Renegade, Reborn and APB doing these days? Any big updates?

I know you can download maps in game now which is pretty awesome, never thought I see that, but what else? Anything else in the scripts?

Been playing Planetside 2 a lot, anyone else play that?

Thinking of playing Renegade again, but in game, xwis/wol shows no servers? Renlist.exe shows servers for GSA but am I missing anything?

2 servers left, the players bounce back and forth between ultra and Rencorner, I saw 48 players in one of them last weekend, but I was too busy working on a new coop map to join.

Look at this hoe coming out of the woodwork.

<http://xwis.net/forums/index.php/user/20351-ironwarrior/>

Looks like you still have an account on xwis forums. Check and make sure your login/pass is still working there, use that email/login/pass at xwis.net/cp Plop in your info there, register your serial. Should be able to reset passwords if needed in the future.

As for Renlist:

Options > General -> put in your game info, I use 'C:\Westwood\Renegade\UAC Launcher.exe' so it keeps my 4.0 scripts up to date.

Options > WOL -> enable WOL box, put in your other WOL info.

Make sure you're running Renegade version 1.037 still. Here's 4.2 scripts:

Unfortunately it's a pretty rubbish time for my family at the moment. My Three year old was diagnosed with Leukemia at the end of April, and while he was vulnerable he contracted a horrible fungal infection; It spread to his liver, kidneys, chest, spleen and then penetrated the blood/brain barrier and wasn't responding to treatment, spreading further throughout his brain, causing clots and bleeding.

Luckily, with increased doses and another anti-fungal designed to help push the other anti-fungals through the blood/brain barrier, he is slowly getting better, although they anticipate it will be another 9 months before the infection has cleared, and may well never be totally gone.

It's horrible because the fungal infection is more urgent and dangerous than the leukemia, and they have to risk balance which drugs to give him, too little of one could cause either the fungal infection or the leukemia a chance to come out of remission.

It was a horrible time (and still is), with over four months spent in a tiny hospital room. He lost the use of his legs right at the start, and we are trying to get him walking again now we're finally home.

He still has daily hospital visits and we only came home last night from a week back in hospital after he got a tiny temperature.

It's a dreadful time to be totally honest, and has deeply affected his older sister, too. She's only Six, and had to live with my parents for a long time, the emotional impact is not insignificant. However, today is a good day, we're home from hospital and all together.

I did have a bouncy castle business, it was doing well, with staff and massive margins, three years established and making great money. Sadly, that had to go as we simply couldn't cope running the business from bedside, and staff handed their notice in a week after diagnosis, meaning we had no one we could turn to to at least let it tick over.

We've re-invested the money from the sale (which was very under-valued due to the circumstances) into a business to business company, producing and manufacturing into the same industry, and are trying to get that off the ground. It allows much greater lead times, and hopefully we've found a bit of a niche. It's a risk though, and the previous business was established and proven, with better margins; We just can't be reliable, and the longer lead times make this a far better option.

Gaming wise, I can really only be mobile. I play Marvel Contest of Champions, and pretty into it.

I've never tried that game, but hear it's fun. Time at a desktop PC is sparse though, and when I do have time I should be working. My company have been really good and understanding, but I've had a tremendous amount of time off, and it seems inevitable that they will make me redundant.

Game-maps was a great site for Renegade at the time. A really nice one-stop resource for everything you needed. Sure it wasn't perfect, but it was a great hub and you did a good job!

From what I see, Zunnie is still active around Renegade, you could probably pm him through here to contact him.

I'm sorry to hear about your 3 yr old, my uncles daughter was born with some rare disorder where all of her vital organs were backwards when she was born, amazingly she has survived and is almost 40 now. I have faith that everything should be okay one day, do a lot of praying because praying has never hurt anyone.

As for Zunnie, he is working on a project right now, but if you need him, contact him at mutliplayerforums.com. He is still around.

you should all give a new try to Renegade X. The game is far superior to the original Renegade now. Everyday at 6pm GMT+1 you can enter servers with 60 players online.

New stuff : Veterancy, weapons as repair tool, no sbh sniper, ts vehicles in crates, king of the hill features (silos, med center, tech center).

Most of the original maps are there. Anyone ready for a 4 hours long game on C&C Snow ?

Give it a shot.

Field and Under got improved and are way more enjoyable. Islands is still great and the ability to swim on shores open the way to new tactics.

Ladder for the last month :

<http://leaderboard.renegade-x.com/?database=Monthly>

As you can see, people play it everyday.

Change the beacons back to being able to be disarmed in the last ten seconds. Nothing is better than risking your character to disarm a beacon in the last few seconds.

I do understand that there is basically a 40-45 seconds timer for beacons and the last 10 seconds is basically just for cinematics/show but I am still annoyed at that.

There's no more sense of "wow, I disarmed that JUST before it hit" (despite how unrealistic that is), in RenX it's basically just like you missed the window to disarm it now sit back and wait 10 seconds for it to go off and you can't do anything to stop it. Again yes I know it's technically a just as long, or longer, timer but it is a bit annoying still.

The rush of knowing you disarmed it right before it hit is gone, now it's just "oh good, I disarmed it before the 10 second timer" or "oh well crap, I missed my chance disarm it and now I have all the time in the world to run away from it".

ehhh wrote on Thu, 07 December 2017 02:09so the best playercounts are at europe prime time?

why are all the servers american then?

hmmm

Actually the main server I've seen people play on is French.

nvm I just saw your screenshot and thought you were eu (all the pings are 150+) so all the servers are eu? unless the pings are wrong?

And then an hour later

I wonder if the same players play both games and just run back and forth between them.

The screenshot shows a game server browser interface. At the top, there is a 'Filter' button with a dropdown arrow and a search icon. Below this is a table with two columns: 'Server Name' and 'Map'. The table contains three rows of server information.

Server Name	Map
Constructive Tyranny Marathon Server	Xmountain
[GGU]Renegade X[24/7]	Volcano
T.O. >>> Sniper + DM-Maps <<<	Sniper-VantageP

I didn't play ren for ~3 years and seem to have missed a lot.

There still were Jelly, BlackIntel and n00bstories.
Why did they all turn off their servers?

I've fucking hated the queue on full servers, now i would be glad to see it one more time

Memories from good old times in the only game i've played for more than 15 years...

playerbase got smaller, servers are expensive, jelly shut down last year renegades still gets 20+ players regularly though in rencorner.
