if you say so....I've tried many times to jump on a vechicle and get carried away...but the only time i've been able to get it to work is when you jump onto the harv. and I don't think you can stick a nuke to a hummer... let alone when someone else is in it... since you die the moment an enemy vehicle moves when youre standing on it... and since beacons drop right through the vehicle when you place it on them..
