Do any of you Americans realise, that even within english there are variations. I'm an Aussie, and over here we say things differently, and even spell some things differently, and its the same in Britian. So many of you Americans think your always right...You didn't invent the *in language. And to say that you speak "American" is a *in stupid comment. I am not implying that all Americans are stupid and arrogant, it just seems that alot on here are...So to all those arrogant mother *ers out there, get your heads out of your asses. And to all the others, please dont take offence.
