It would have been nicer if WW made it so when someone spammed the same thing as many times as possable it is only said and dispalyed once, I never say building need repair when the message "GDI XXXX is under attack" beause I hope that my team are not as thick as *To Corsair_734:I have no problem with the radio commands, they prove very usefull to get you point accross clearly and fast, also if you spelling is as bad as mine it wont leave your teammates saying "WTF does that mean?" I just cant stand people spamming out crap that isin't needed
