I feel tunnels can be mined in some maps like under forsure, but to say never mine MCT's is silly. There are not enough mines to mine every door, I have never found anyone "yet" who can throw C4 as far as I place mines around MCT, not to close to MCT. But a counter may help a bit, a person feels like giving up minig when you see a idiot mining roads ways while important mines disapear, it's bad when your offence is working so hard and something as simple as laying mines can lose a game because of one person. If your stubborn like myself, you'll just keep on laying mines over and over quickly and watch his go up in smoke, as talking to them rarely works?
