This was pretty embarassing for my enemies...Well, I just finished the really awesome islands game (4 vs 4) where, after purchasing a hotwire, beacon, and apc, managed to detonate it on Nod's beacon pad. It was then I found out that the stupid host turned off beacon victory. So I proceded (24 health left) to the airstrip where a new flame tank lie.Unfortunately for me, it wouldn't let me in, so I swiped the brand new light tank and ran over its unexpected "owner" not noticing I was in it. By then the flame had a driver. I blew it up behind the Tiberium factory (Tank's health in the red) and the went inside, killed a shotgun trooper with my pistol (Remember I had 24 health) and proceeded to planting the rest of my charges.We won of course, and most likley the nodders were extremely embarassed by being destroyed by a hotwire with 24 health. hehe..
