oops...a couple of typos up there but I don't bother to edit I want to share yet another story, one of those "C4" stories.A couple of days ago, I played a game on Field, and I was running around in my stealth suit, grooving. Then I saw a huge, blue ray coming from the waterfall, and that sweet reload sound of the PIC. So I ran up the hill and found a Sydney and an Hotwire up there. Sydney was wrecking our harvester, whilst the Hotwire, who was the MVP, constantly fixed Sydney. I took the C4 out of my pocket and gently throwed it at the back of the Hotwire. Then I pulled back and pulled out the pistol, in case Sydney survived.After 30 seconds I finally heard it:
"BOOM"-"BOINK" Both died in the sweetest C4 blast in MY recorded history Bet they wore embarresed