Actually in the full game and the demo you can get past the obelisk with no problems. Just crouch and keep behind the boulder then crouch to the barrier between the boulder and the hand of nod. After that you can either mad dash to the Hand of Nod or crouch along the wall off the power plant until the obelisk is out of view...then blow the plant and roam free!! GDI is the same principal I believe you can crouch through to the infantry barracks...try to keep as far away from the AGT as possible until you are close to cover.
