with a sniper, the first thing you should do is outsnipe the ennemy snipers, then snipe the ingies... caus ennemy snipers can snipe your own ingies (No, i never did that... ) while other snipers pay attention to the main battlefeild, they are easy target cause they dont move... a single headshot, and they're history! remember! use the right tool for the right thing... the best tool against a sniper is a quicker sniper! and for the tank repairing ingies, if they're not dumb, they'll HIDE behind the tank! sa long as the tank driver cares for his ingie, he will protect it to and the tank and the ingie will last a lot longer! Busted 4 flametank that way with my mamoth... and thoses who think mamoth are stronger than flamer don't know what they are talking about.... Never let a flamer get close... I survived until someone killed my ingie in the back of the head, where I could'nt see what was going on, but still, you last quite a lot longer... And a note for tank drivers: If you want your ingies to fallow you... first, do not go in the middle of the tyberium feild... we can't!!! you'll find yourself alone. Second, try to back us up! Ingie is a powerfull class, but HAS to be protected! They are not cannonmeat or human sheilds... care about them as they care about you... Y like playing an ingie, theyre cool when you know how to use them! but nothing is more frustrating than a teammate who's crying for repairs in the middle of the tib feild, and wonderring why nobody comes and heal him... Oh well, that's part of the game I guess!Protect me And I'll repair you all guys! I might event put some proxy c4 on your tank for additional protection!!Can't wait till the full game comes out in les than 8 hours!!!
