Maybe this will finally end? Aircraftkiller does the same to every other mod. He posts his honest opinion. Sure his standards are high but you dont have to take it as a personal insult toward you. Just Ignore it and take his advice to heed and try and fix the problems. Most of his points are valid but alot of it looks fine as is.

It's very hard to choose sides when most of the time he is right and most of the time the model and texture look fine. I usally stay out of it but it would be great if the bashing would end. I know he isnt going to stop with putting his opinion because he has a right to. Just dont get angry over it.
