Subject: Video card question
Posted by liberator on Sat, 10 Jul 2004 05:56:55 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Go with the 9800, you'd be better served with the FX 5950, but that's neither here nor there. There's little point to upgrade to PCI Express when there has yet to be a card potent enough to choke 8x AGP, especially given the number of other components you'd have to buy to upgrade. IMO, PCI Express is primarily intended for GB Ethernet and other Very High Bandwidth Consumers.