
Subject: Re: Weird problems with Internet Explorer
Posted by mahkra on Wed, 21 Jul 2004 01:27:32 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Terminator 101On the Microsoft website it says that you can just go to add/remove file and remove it, but on some other websites, it says that you need some kind of program to remove it. I may be wrong about this, but I think that might have been one of the issues involved in the anti-trust stuff vs. Microsoft. I think you couldn't uninstall IE from older versions of Windows, but part of the ruling was that you have to be able to do so now.

Again, I may be wrong about this, as I never actively tried to find information about it, but I think I remember hearing something to that effect.
