Sounds good, although personally I'd rather have an apc or 2 in there. Don't put people in there because they get there first and start the panic. While the other team are racing over to destroy them that's when everything else is piling in. Finally many people on the servers I use don't like mammys, but after 2 apc, 2 meds and a few hummers the last thing you need is a mammy crawling over the hill after you.
