
Subject: Nominate a moderator

Posted by Scrumfy on Thu, 26 Aug 2004 23:23:17 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Aircraftkiller! I've cheated once, that doesn't constitute "cheats" as in "more than once." It was to prove a point and get out some anger against an intangible enemy unless I felt like driving down to south Florida to take care of it myself.

Idiot.

Maybe you're not such a bad guy Scrumfy, but I still don't want you moderating the forum. You don't have the experience or the skill required for it, there are many better candidates... shudder even NeoX.

Quote: And if BHS doesn't think there's anything wrong with cheating... Then why does RenGuard even exist? Now I see why you don't speak for BHS anymore.

I said there's nothing wrong with cheating in servers that allow it. We all believe this. RenGuard is ONLY implemented on servers that do not want cheaters in them. See the correlation? If you want to play with cheaters, go outside of RG servers. If you don't, go in them... Simple solution. [/i]

I'm interested to hear how I lack experience... I mean, I only moderate our own forums. Plus the fact that I have been playing this game just as long as you have, and have an understanding of the engine (although it may be rather basic compared to some of the folks around here). And no, we don't run renguard because we want to play with cheaters... We don't run it because we feel that manual moderation can do the trick (and keep full servers). Personally, I'd rather not get into that again, though.
