I didn't install Renegade even when I had the chance because I had no reason to, but one person made me install it. He made me a mod on his server so it obviously drew me into wanting to play again. Scamp, please come up and take a bow.....anyways...yeah. I'm back now, but I honestly did not have any desire to come back until I was a moderator.

This really had no relevance other than to show that I came back, but not because I missed it so much.