Here's an idea, why don't you go back in time around two and a half years ago and watch what Reborn said and did to this community as a whole, then come back here and find out why most people hate it.

Or just ask someone for the rendition of what happened, because you're obviously ignorant and that isn't going to "help" the situation you decry so much.