Let me just clarify something here...

SealWhy, I believe 80 people were killed just today! Ho Boy! If you were to pick a different month, like September, you would more than double the number of murders in Detroit. Not to mention the massive emotional and psychological consequences of war that places like Detroit don't have to deal with.

Theres NO Emotional or Psychological consequences when someones murdered cold blood on the streets of a major city? I'm confused as to what you meant by that comment.
