kopaka649Didnt you give free hosting before? lol. wecome back

Yes, I did for quite some time. But then I came to the realization that I was paying $60 a year for the server and I was only using it to upload my own pictures that I could just upload to ImageDump or some other free site. So I cancelled the account just like a week ago...

Thanks for the welcome all, hopefully I'll get to play a few games with some of you once I figure out who all still plays. Should probably ask while it is on my mind... what are the most popular servers nowadays? Is there a particular one that most of the community people here play on?
