It's so sad how so many idiots on these forums are against America. Including seeing some retard in a different thread saying that calling someone an American is an "insult". What the fuck are you guys smoking? You're against us even though we haven't done anything to you, and you're looking down upon us like as if we were a bundle of shit bags who didn't even deserve to be a country. Also, hearing Aprime say it wouldn't be bad to "share" money with America really resembles some more faggotry. America is a great country, and so is Canada. I don't see any reason why they both should be trashed just because of their mistakes or their stupid laws.
