It's the same font, just larger. Tried adjusting a zoom or text size option? Not everything else is larger, right?

It's just one of those things that I've forgotten about since switching from IE to opera (although it looks the same in IE, some other things don't).