Yeah, I'm not sure what Exdeath meant - we had pretty good references on this. I'm going to have to go against your reference on this one: I think the barrel in that screen capture is excessively dark, I can't imagine why it would possibly look like that. The hatch on the top should maybe be like 5-10% larger, but since it's not a player-usable weapon, that's modification worth making. I do agree, however, that it needs more detail in some areas, and I plan to spend some more time working with the texture sometime soon.
