Do you have nortons internet security or antivirus?? I rememeber when i got my laptop it did the exact same thing. I tried to d/l it again and it did it again... d/l it again and same thing. so i minimized it while at the d/l screen. There was a message from nortons asking if i should block the file. I clicked no and the update started right up. Not sure why it did that because i put it on 3 other pc's and that never happened.
