On my servers I realized that the BRenBot code for half renguard is a bit buggy, so I set the amsg to nothing in the config file, so basically is sends "pamsg <person> " to the FDS which just generates an error and no popup for the player. I kept the message at the top that says "Blah is NOT running RenGuard!"

Though I do want everyone on my server to use RenGuard, I don't think it's working out very well to have them get an amsg in the middle of battle. The worst for me is when I get that "on renguard but the server doesn't think so" bug when I hop out of a tank to repair. Scary...
