Subject: OT: Extreme Overclocking
Posted by z310 on Fri, 07 Jan 2005 03:00:32 GMT

glyde51
Wow! PC class... everyone in my area doesn't know anything about computers, they all suck at it and all they talk about are sports, fucking annoying when you go: "Hey, teacher said to center the poem." And the responce is: "How the fuck do I do that?"

They all talk about sports, sleep dreaming about sports, get girl friends just to say they have them, and all the while hate each other behind their backs. I'd rather be a friendly computer geek.
Same :\

cowmisfitMy school is the first completly wireless in the nation, we won a bunch of grants (and yes its public school). Every room has Dell Laptps (30 of them) and we don't use black boards, we use Smart Boards (big touch computer screens basicly)

I've completed A+, im currently taking Advanced CISCO networking class, and Microsoft class so i can be certified in a range of Microsoft products.
There not computer screens, they are a white touchboard... No monitor functions.