For those interested, me and a small team have been developing an MMO game called 'Nanobyte Online'. It's similar to Uplink - if any of you have played that.

For more information and screenshots - www.bloodserver.co.uk

The game is still in development!

Quote:Nanobyte is a Massive Multiplayer Online Hacking Simulation, but with a big twist. Allowing users to navigate a virtual world set in the year 2007. With high-tech machinery and the latest computer hardware.

The ability to overclock your hardware and software allows competitive play for players who may want to gain the highest score in virtual benchmarking.

Need money? Hack banks? Need the latest game? Hack the gaming company mainframe and steal it?

Someone annoying you? Hack their gateway computer and give them a nice surprise the next time they log into their gateway.

Welcome to Nanobyte.
