i said they're snobby. that's not racism...stereotypical...but not racism. maybe it wasn't the right thing to say. i meant they are snobby because they can't appreciate all of the allied dead (British and American) that were trying to liberate them from the Germans in WWI and II.

Oh...and many of your posts from a year ago have led me to believe that you're no more worthy then that of my dog's shit. I do have to say though...I don't find that opinion still true today...but then again...I don't remember your past posts.
