j_ball430Have you ever studied or even payed attention to anything about World War II? Japan was not going to give up until they were all dead, or we knocked some sense into their heads. On the island of Saipan the WOMEN AND CHILDREN committed suicide rather than be under American control. Not to mention that the Japanese government trained women and children to fight against the Americans. They taught them how to use sharp sticks and such.

I think the best way to describe the situation is in fact to play through a game of Battlefield Veitnam and listen to the propaganda machine. In Japan, just about everything was controlled by the military up and including through the Pacific Campaign.

Quote:During the 1930s, the military established almost complete control over the government. Many political enemies were assassinated, and communists persecuted. Indoctrination and censorship in education and media were further intensified. Navy and army officers soon occupied most of the important offices, including the one of the prime minister.

I would highly doubt that even a large minority would know that "Americans are generally nice people and won't torture you". It's similar to the situation we have in Communist China now. The people "behind the wall" are told by their government that China donates millions of dollars worth of foreign aid to America under some pretense to put the Chinese government on a high pedistal that no one can dethrone because... well, they're communists, aren't they?
