DJMI got:

2.6Ghz
512Mb RAM
64Mb GeForce 4

I would liek to upgrade my RAM to 1024. Do you think it's worth upgrading my gfx card too? I don't know too much bout these kinda things.

Yeah listen to icedog90 if you want some n00b that likely doesn't know any more than you to give you a recommendation.

If you want a recommendation we first need to know the exact model number of your card. The manufactures name would be helpful as well, so that we know the exact timings of the vide card. As every manufacture changes them up just a little.

Your rig doesn't look that bad. It might not be an x800xt, but then again there is no need for that, since the rest of your system isn't up to par.

So get back to us and I will give you my 5 cents.

BTW I find it funny that icedog90 has made a determination regarding your vide card without even knowing exactly what you have. For christ sakes, there's at least 6 different variations in the Geforce 4 line.
