Now we have to put up with idiots taking the easy way out because there are "meanings" to the idiocy? I'm not going to waste my time trying to figure out what morons are trying to say just because they feel that they can type like this because there's some "meaning" to their gibberish. I'd rather not drop a few IQ points to try and figure out what they are trying to say when they could just as easily GAIN IQ points or at least seem more intelligent by actually using the correct form of the English language.
