Well yeah, because I know it would get in all the newspapers and the like "White man sues Asian for being racist" and all the anit-racism groups would call me racist, because I find a racist word offensive, and I'm white.

Basically I'm not allowed to have a racist bone in my body, but other races are, because they're a minority and all these anti-racism idiots (who in my opinion keep racism alive) are prejudiced against the people who were born in the country.

I now need a passport in order to get a job, to prove I'm actually British. I speak english better than most, and I'm white. Of course I'm an Iraqi terrorist!

Sorry it's a bugbear of mine, I couldn't give a s*it if you're black, white or green, but it doesn't work both ways.
