danpaul88Demolition manThere is already something in ren that dissallows you to get in the vehicle after buying. SO look at that script and you just have to check which character somebody has.

all that does is stop anyone but the person who bought the vehicle getting in for about 10 seconds, i doubt it even looks at what character the person is, just their name or id on the serverI didn't say you could use that script but you could use a part off it to make your own script