Umm...I have not been around for any of the past events that have occurred between you and the people in this community, but you attacking the servers for what people have done to you is childish. If you start a fight, and someone joins in, it will never end. If you start a fight, and you just let it go, it ends. Easy as that. I found that if someone is messing with you, just leave and forget all about it. That is the easiest way out. But if you fight back, they will fight back again. It will never stop. The people who started this fight or whoever is in it needs to make a descision:

Just stop the dumb fight and move on | Or keep at it and never let it end.
