Subject: Re: cyberpunks ip /passwords/nicks
Posted by reborn on Tue, 07 Jun 2005 22:01:32 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Quote:and all those others that just go talk bad about me without actually knowing my real me, done anything what I think is wrong, for you guys the war just started.

PS: The only thing that keeps driving me on, messing with servers, exploiting,... is most people's attitude around here. Fuck with me and I fuck back my way whether you like it or not. Whether people have to suffer from this that do not have anything to do with the case (like now, other servers have to suffer because Nightma12 thought it was fun to go play around with my account), and that other guy just posting 3 off my passwords public. The only servers that will be left alone are non00bs and Crimson's servers.

I personally pay out a very minimum of 240 dollars every month for my renegade servers, the total cost of my clans renegade servers is 390 dollars a month (plus webhosting and irc hosting, aswell as teamspeak just for renegade).
I have had people use a no name exploit on them, crash my servers, cheat on my servers, people use the host name exploit on them. Most of these people were fresh out of UC and just watched your cheat videos.
You said previously that you want to wage war on servers hosting renegade and everyone will pay.
I have paid enough!
I have never "fucked with you", and seeing as you discovered the host name exploit and the no name exploit, and have used it to cheat on my servers without me being able to get rid of you, why should I not talk bad about you without knowing the real you?
I am a guy who likes playing renegade and supports it.
Why are my servers involved with all this?