Aircraftkiller wrote on Tue, 28 June 2005 04:39Thereby helping advertisers pull their advertisement programs off most websites, which leads to having to pay to view a website in the future. Yes, that's most certainly worth not seeing a few images or some lines of text that can be easily ignored.

Aircraftkiller,

Do you click the ads on your favorite websites?

Thought so.