This was on SA a few months back, she did go to those areas, but like cromson says the story its self was fake. She went as part of a guided tour with about 20 other people - on a bus. There was some other stuff about how and why, but I can't for the life of me remember what.

Its still a good story though.

She has a few other web sites, I will see if I can find the links.

Here we go.
