don't be to predictable when you look for sbh either. i play with sbh a lot. when i'm going into a base i'm looking for someone that is patrolling or firing in a pattern (and most do.) try to break up your patrolling route or where you fire so that its a little more random and not so predictable. its much easier to sneak into a base when someone is patrolling in pattern because the rest of the base sees someone partolling and doesn't generally look for sbh since someone else is doing it. they also tend to leave the base open more since someone is there patrolling.
