Subject: Re: IF you find a BYPASS...
Posted by Kanezor on Thu, 04 Aug 2005 02:50:19 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

While #2 and #3 are excellent as is, I think #1 should always be source code; you can never really trust an executable in a timely fashion. For all that the BHS team knows, it's someone claiming that they found a bypass but is instead giving them a trojan horse.