The current structure is essentially a clusterfuck. Here's a brief history:

- * Original Renegade Forums (by Westwood) - 7 forums, no categorization
- * I take over - I severely alter phpBB to look like the UBB forums we were on. I lose the ability to categorize because I edited that part out
- * BHS is formed and over the last couple of years new forums are added

Now we have 16 forums instead of the original 7 or so. Categorization will allow you to collapse areas that you don't visit and will hopefully allow new users to be better able to figure out where the hell to put their questions.
