Cant someone make a serial key generator for WOL server serials? WOL must verify them somehow, and the chances of two people using the same generated key are low, and one of the people could easily generate a new one...

It would replace all those lost serials soaked up by that moron hacker and those simply lost when computers were formatted etc...

Oh btw, its actually illegal to sell something like this....