let me think, is this school? is this work? is this any place where i will be graded on any type of spelling/grammar? No. this is the internet, where i dont care how i type, i know i make mistakes in my spelling and i seriously dont care. its not worth my time and effort to go back and correct every little mistake (when some one with a 2nd grade reading education knows what it says). so if you cant read a word that is one or two letters off, then too bad for you, go back to school and learn some Logic Problems.
