Then I suspect you're new to this "internet" contraption because it's as straightforward as you want it to be.

Actually I was speaking from my experience at writing php websites.

The site does not work properly in Firefox or other netscape browsers, and any decent website would work in all major browsers.

You cannot bookmark the main page of a game section, meaning you have to scroll down the stupid list to find the game you want to go to.

The top menu for the renegade section (and probably the others) is bandwidth heavy, taking a few seconds on my 2mb connection. That probably translates to over a minute for a 56k user to load the menu.

Overall getting to the admin section for a clan takes about 4 pages, when a decent site would let you type your clan name in a search box and go straight to it!

Their 'forums' for clans are hidden away below a load of other (mostly useless) information, so most people don't even notice if you post something.

I could go on, but it would be a waste of my time.
