And God? Well, there is no God. That's us. We wanted to see ourselves transform from apes to what we are now and managed to be spotted on many occasions (like, every day). Then the rules came about and now we can only visit now. And also, we cannot interfere.

Yeah. Hit two birds with one stone. No aliens, no God. GG.

That sounds like a paradox to me. How can our future selves create us. And if this is how it works why isnt there more paradox like creatons? It would mean that aliens could exist if you look at it like that.
