You had to do that neat idea of "leaving" your vehicle when you run in to sap a building..

You just love how the little kid's jump into them and run around -- spamming "I need repairs" - all the while your planting your C-4 on the MCT....

You relish how you singlehandedly take down an entire building - because some kid got to "jack" your empty ride.

I hate you....

Now - it seems - more and more people are "saving" the frigging enemy vehicle - and not the IMPORTANT FRIENDLY building that your inside of.

also - on another note - if your a driver of a FULLY loaded APC/APV - DO NOT JUMP OUT AN LEAVE IT....

Instead = provide covering fire - protect the sappers going in -- jam it into the door to blow mines - BUT DON'T GET OUT! Wait till the sucker blows. -- then run in and do some more damage.

Especially if you have all ready taken out the the enemies vehicle maker - sort of goes against the point of depriving them of vehicles if you give them one.

(BTW - this is in the kidding mode.... I always leave a vehicle when i know it can distract the other side - but never if the vehicle maker is wacked - you can carry more than one person -- DO IT!)
