

---

Subject: The GunRun 'why not a fourm about me?'
Posted by forsaken on Sat, 03 May 2003 03:05:49 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

GunRun, it's they the way you present topics, and start new threads when they can be contained in threads that are already about you. Also be more sophisticated ,so to speak, when ever you respond or the way you present your text (SUCH AS THIS). Try not to post new threads unless it's something urgent in the real world or in the C&C/Renegade community that hasn't already been posted about or if it's a new mod you want to present or if you feel it's absolutely necessary (this first post could have been an addition to the many others that you have started). Just follow little things like this and you won't get as much heat as your getting right now.

Also the more you open topics like this one, the more Java and others will tail you, and degrade you till you don't feel welcome here anymore. Which right now they are pointing out the things I have listed. In this community especially when your new make only 1 topic dedicated to yourself as a welcome, and let that be it for yourself for awhile. Afterwards join in on the topics give your humor, ideas, opinions on how things work. Once you develop your personality on here, and gain everyones trust as an ok guy then it is the time to publicize your mods giving out the sites without them being removed by admins.

So.... with this in mind let us start over.

Hi GunRun welcome to Official Renegade boards!

---