

---

Subject: Re: This will boggle your mind...

Posted by Scythar on Wed, 28 Dec 2005 02:42:24 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

I'd like to comment the following:

Quote:and the point?'

'at its simplest, "Life Must Go On". My personal motivation is the desire for conversation. Once you've achieved my level, you cease to be billions of separate entities and become one ecstatic whole. A single entity that cannot die, however advanced, or perhaps, more accurately, because it is so advanced, will get lonely and even a trifle bored! I seem to be the first. I do not intend to be the last'

He "seems" to be the first? But he doesn't know? He has no idea what the heck made things just exist either, by the looks of it. Hehe. What I would ask if such a thing happened is "Do YOU believe in god?"

The text makes "godness" into a hierarchical system where there are many gods, creating new gods and continuing life via evolution, but the question of what made the first god exist and what was before it still exists, it's just pushed back a bit.

Or are we still unable to comprehend that with out current brain? No solution as of yet, unfortunately

Edit: Or maybe it's a quantum thing. You know, maybe god both exists and doesn't exist simultaneously. Would solve all the flamefights!

---