Very cool game!
Played it twice today & managed to complete it both times

I've also been looking into modding the game now & for when the game is released.
And it seems somebody has already been able to hack the game to enable you to play as empire (but buggy), Import & Export the MEG data files & other stuff..
The structure of the game data is very basic IMO! So it can be easily modded!
But it worries me that when this goes to the full version with MP, people will take advantage of this and start making cheats...
